ONLINE COURSE CREATOR IN THE AI ERA

What you know is an asset sitting idle. Packaging it into a course is the business.

★ TL;DR — ~$75K median among creators who make it work, with 1–6 months to build a first real course. The catch: most courses sell to nobody — the teaching is the easy half; the audience is the job. ★

THE CAREER GLITCH TAKE

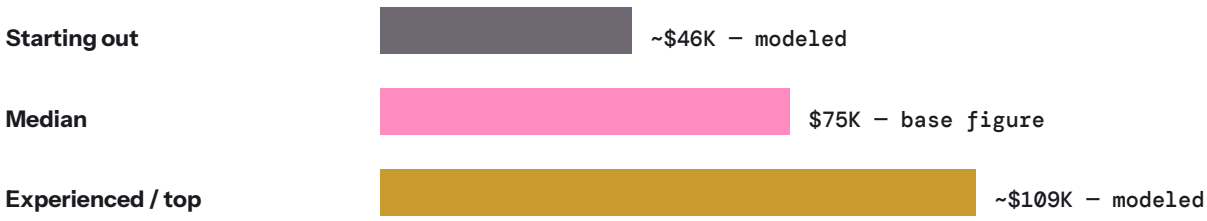

OUR TAKE: YES — WITH EYES OPEN

MEDIAN ~$75K · TRAINING 1-6 months · AI RISK MEDIUM

- Every niche has people who'd pay to learn faster than trial and error.
- A course is built once and sells repeatedly — real leverage, if it sells.
- AI floods the market with generic courses; lived experience and proof are the differentiators.

The site's take, built from this profession's numbers in the Career Glitch base.

THE MONEY — LOOK AT THE BARS

The Career Glitch base figure for Online Course Creator is a ~$75K median (compiled from U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, Occupational Outlook Handbook ranges). The starting and top bars are modeled around that median — orientation, not a promise. Pay swings hard by state, employer and experience: check live postings in your state before planning around any number.

WHAT DOES A ONLINE COURSE CREATOR ACTUALLY DO?

- ✓ Research what your audience actually struggles with
- ✓ Design curriculum and record lessons

✓ Run launches, emails, and community or support

✓ Update content and gather student results as proof

Think: writing a cookbook from your own kitchen — the recipes are your experience, and nobody buys a cookbook from someone who can't cook.

WHAT AI ALREADY TOOK (AND WHAT IT CAN'T)

THE ROBOT	THE HUMAN
AI outlines courses, drafts scripts, edits video, and generates slides in hours. Production cost has collapsed.	Knowing which step students actually get stuck on, and proving the outcome with real student results — that's earned, not generated.

⚠ No audience, no sales — full stop. If you build the course before building the crowd, you've made an expensive hobby.

THE VIBE — IS THIS YOUR LIFE?

THE JOB IS	THE JOB IS NOT
✓ Fully remote, asynchronous, deeply your own ✓ Income can detach from hours once it's working ✓ Your expertise compounds into an asset library	✗ Long unpaid build before the first launch ✗ Marketing never ends; teaching is maybe half the job ✗ Income is spiky and platform-dependent

Good fit? You've achieved something teachable, you enjoy explaining, and you'll market as hard as you teach.

Bad fit? You want the course to sell itself, or your expertise is borrowed from other courses.

THE FORK — PICK ONE DOOR

DOOR A — TEACH ON A PLATFORM	DOOR B — YOUR OWN FUNNEL
Publish on a marketplace platform that brings its own traffic. Lower prices and less control, but your first students and reviews come from their audience.	Build an audience on social or email, then sell your course directly at real prices. Slower, harder, and the only version with real margins.

Smart move: Pre-sell a small live cohort before recording anything polished. Their questions write your curriculum, and their payments validate the topic.

Where you land after: Course portfolio owner, then a membership/community or high-ticket program.

PICK THE	VALIDATE BEFORE	BUILD THE	TEACH IT	PACKAGE IT	LAUNCH TO

STEP 1 — Pick the outcome you can prove

FREE · WEEK 1

- Choose a skill where you have results, not just knowledge.
- Write the promise: from what, to what, in how long.

STEP 2 — Validate before building

FREE · WEEKS 2-4

- Interview potential students about their stuck points.
- Pre-sell a founding cohort with a simple page and a real price.

STEP 3 — Build the minimum course

$100-500 · MONTHS 1-3

- Outline lessons from the cohort's actual questions.
- Record simply: clear audio and screen beat cinematic video.

STEP 4 — Teach it live once

MONTHS 2-4

- Run the cohort live; note every confusion and dropout point.
- Collect results and testimonials (with permission).

STEP 5 — Package it evergreen

MONTHS 3-5

- Re-record the weak lessons; tighten the path.
- Set up the sales page, emails, and checkout properly.

STEP 6 — Launch to your growing list

WORKING · MONTHS 5-6

- Run a real launch to your audience, however small.
- Measure: conversion teaches you more than compliments.

FIRST 90 DAYS — JUST DO THIS

- Today: write your course promise in one sentence and name your first interview targets.
- Days 1–30: validation interviews done; founding cohort pre-sold or the idea revised.
- Days 31–60: curriculum outlined from real questions; first lessons recorded.
- Days 61–90: live cohort running, or the first version on sale.

 Day 90: you have a teachable asset and — more important — evidence people pay for it.
