SPORTS COACH IN THE AI ERA

Sensors can count a kid's sprint. A coach is why the kid shows up to sprint at all.

★ TL;DR — Coaching at a ~$45K median, startable in 1–6 months across youth, club and school sports with no license gate. The catch: pay is patchy for years — evenings, weekends and seasons stitched together. ★

THE CAREER GLITCH TAKE

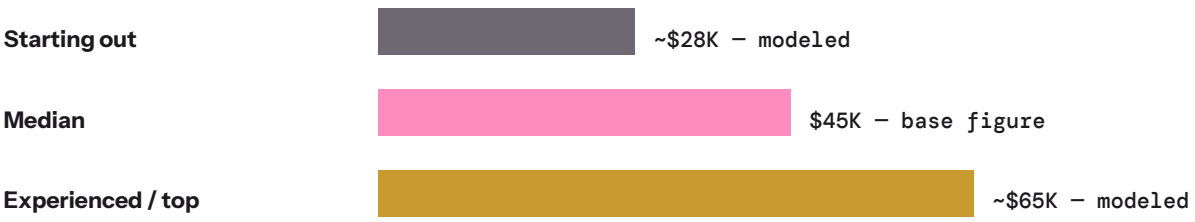

OUR TAKE: YES — WITH EYES OPEN

MEDIAN ~$45K · TRAINING 1-6 months · AI RISK LOW

- Motivation, character and trust are the product — the least automatable parts of sport.
- Entry is reputation-based: assist well for one season and doors open everywhere locally.
- The money splits in two: team coaching builds the name, private training pays the rate.

The site's take, built from this profession's numbers in the Career Glitch base.

THE MONEY — LOOK AT THE BARS

The Career Glitch base figure for Sports Coach is a ~$45K median (compiled from U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, Occupational Outlook Handbook ranges). The starting and top bars are modeled around that median — orientation, not a promise. Pay swings hard by state, employer and experience: check live postings in your state before planning around any number.

WHAT DOES A SPORTS COACH ACTUALLY DO?

- ✓ Planning practices and teaching skills through drills
- ✓ Making game-day decisions and managing playing time
- ✓ Communicating with players and parents
- ✓ Admin: schedules, equipment, registrations, fields

Think: a teacher whose classroom has a scoreboard.

WHAT AI ALREADY TOOK (AND WHAT IT CAN'T)

THE ROBOT	THE HUMAN
Video analysis, stat tracking and practice-planning apps do the analysis layer. Your opponents use them too — they're table stakes, not the job.	Reading a discouraged kid, building a team's character, and earning families' trust season after season. Players remember coaches, not apps.

⚠ Parents are the real final boss. Sideline politics come free with every whistle, and they don't care about your win record.

THE VIBE — IS THIS YOUR LIFE?

THE JOB IS	THE JOB IS NOT
✓ Outdoors, active, seasons with real beginnings and endings ✓ Victories you can point at ✓ A community role that compounds yearly	✗ Evenings and weekends are the job ✗ Weather makes your schedule for you ✗ Low pay per hour in the early seasons

Good fit? You played the sport, you love teaching it, and kids' energy charges you instead of draining you.
Bad fit? You need stable full-time pay now, or losing seasons will ruin your month.

THE FORK — PICK ONE DOOR

DOOR A — SCHOOL OR CLUB COACHING	DOOR B — PRIVATE SKILLS COACHING
Assist a head coach for a season, then take a team of your own. Schools and clubs provide players, facilities and legitimacy — the reputation ladder of the profession.	Sell one-on-one and small-group training directly to families. The hourly economics are far better; the marketing and scheduling are entirely yours.

Smart move: Private skills training is where the hourly money is; team coaching is where the reputation that fills it is built. Do both, in that order of respect.
Where you land after: Head coach of a real program, program director — or a booked-out private training practice.

STEP 1 — Pick your sport and age group

FREE · TODAY

- Coach what you played and understand deeply
- Choose the age group whose parents and programs you'll serve

STEP 2 — Assist for a season

MONTHS 1-3

- Volunteer or assist with a club or school team
- Own something specific: warm-ups, a position group, the bench

STEP 3 — Learn to run a practice

MONTHS 2-4

- Study practice planning, safety and age-appropriate progressions
- Write every practice plan before you run it

STEP 4 — Take a team or group

MONTHS 3-5

- Head-coach a small team or run your own clinic series
- Communicate with parents early, clearly and warmly

STEP 5 — Launch private training

MONTHS 4-6

- Offer skills sessions to families from your team orbit
- Price per outcome block, not per lonely hour

STEP 6 — Build the program reputation

ONGOING · SEASON 2

- Collect testimonials and returning families
- Let the waitlist set next season's prices

FIRST 90 DAYS — JUST DO THIS

- □ Today: contact two clubs or schools about assisting this season.
- □ Days 1–30: you're at practices, running drills and learning names.
- □ Days 31–60: you own practice segments end-to-end; plans written weekly.
- □ Days 61–90: a small team, clinic or first private clients under your name.
- □ Day 90: you're coaching every week with a season plan and families who'd re-sign.
